Q. 22	Apprenticeship Training- In the Apprenticeship Programme, a master worker or a trainer is appointed who guides the worker or learner regarding the skill of job. The master worker performs the job and the trainee (learner) observes him performing. When the learner learns all the skills then slowly he starts taking up the job step by step and master worker becomes the observer. When the trainee becomes perfect in doing the job then master worker goes and trainee gets full charge of job position. It is suitable for people seeking to enter skilled traits for example-plumbers, electricians, iron workers, etc. Vestibule training-Employees learn their jobs on the equipment they will be using, but the training is conducted away from the actual work floor. Q. 31	Unity of Command: There should be one and only one boss for every individual from whom he should receive orders and be responsible to. Dual subordination should be avoided. Unity of Direction: All the units of an organisation should be moving towards the same objectives through coordinated and focused efforts. Each group of activities having the same objective must have one head and one plan. Discipline: It refers to the obedience to organizational rules and the employment agreement. It is necessary for the systematic working of the organisation. It requires good superiors at all levels, clear and fair agreements and judicious application of penalties. Equity: It emphasizes kindness and justice in the behaviour of managers towards workers. No discrimination should be made by them on the basis of caste, creed, gender or otherwise.	1.5×4=6
Q. 32	Step discussed above: Identifying alternative courses of action: Once objectives are set assumptions are made. Then the next step would be to act upon them. There may be many ways to act and achieve objectives. All the alternative courses of action should be identified. The course of action which may be taken could be either routine or innovative. An innovative course may be adopted by involving more people and sharing their ideas. Remaining steps to be carried out to complete the process are as follows: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Evaluating alternative courses: The next step is to weigh pros and cons of each alternative. Each course will have many variables which have to be weighed against each other. The positive and negative aspects of each proposal need to be evaluated in the light of the objective to be achieved. Selecting an alternative: This is the real point of decision making. The best plan has to be adopted and implemented. The 	1×4=4 ½ mark for the heading and ½ mark for the explanation ideal plan, of course, would be the most feasible, profitable and with least negative consequences. Most plans may not always be subjected to a mathematical analysis.

3. Implementing the plan: This is the step where other managerial functions also come into the picture. The step is concerned with putting the plan into action.

4. Follow up action: To see whether plans are being implemented and activities are performed according to schedule is also part of the planning process. Monitoring the plans is equally important to ensure that objectives are achieved.

OR

Yes.

Importance of Planning

1. Planning provides direction: Planning ensures that the goals or objectives are clearly stated so that they act as a guide for deciding what action should be taken and in which direction. If goals are well defined, employees are aware of what the organisation has to do and what they must do to achieve those goals.

2. Planning reduces the risks of uncertainty: Planning is an activity which enables a manager to look ahead and anticipate changes. By deciding in advance, the tasks to be performed, planning shows the way to deal with changes and uncertain events. Changes or events cannot be eliminated but they can be anticipated and managerial responses to them can be developed.

3. Planning reduces overlapping and wasteful activities: Planning serves as the basis of coordinating the activities and efforts of different divisions, departments and individuals. It helps in avoiding confusion and misunderstanding. Since planning ensures clarity in thought and action, work is carried on smoothly without interruptions. Useless and redundant activities are minimised or eliminated.

4. Planning promotes innovative ideas: Since planning is the first function of management, new ideas can take the shape of concrete plans. It is the most challenging activity for the management as it guides all future actions leading to growth and prosperity of the business.
