Q1. Read the following text.

(10 marks)

MaharanaPratap, the brave ruler of Mewar, was a legendary figure in the Indian history. He was born on May 9, 1540 in the region of Kumbhalgarh. His name became synonymous with indomitable courage, determination, and a firm commitment to his homeland.

MaharanaPratap ascended to the throne of Mewar in 1572 after the death of his father, MaharanaUdai Singh II. He fought with the ambitious Mughal emperor Akbar throughout his reign because Akbar wanted to capture Mewar. Unlike many of his contemporaries who succumbed to Mughal dominance, MaharanaPratap refused to bow before Akbar and decided to fight for the preservation of his ancestral land and cultural heritage.

One of the defining characteristics of MaharanaPratap's character was his unwavering commitment to the principles of valor and honour. His famous horse, Chetak, exemplified these values, as the loyal and fearless horse played a vital role in many of his battles. The battle of Haldighati in 1576, where MaharanaPratap faced Akbar's formidable army under the leadership of the famous commander Raja Man Singh, is a testament to his indomitable spirit. Despite being outnumbered, they fought with remarkable valor and the battle became a defining moment in their legacy.

MaharanaPratap's life was marked by numerous hardships and sacrifices. He took refuge in the rugged Aravalli mountains, living a life of hardship and constant struggle. He was known to live a simple and ascetic life, emphasizing self-reliance and the importance of the welfare of his people.

The character of MaharanaPratap also reflected his commitment to preserving the cultural and religious traditions of Mewar. He was a patron of the arts and promoted a deep reverence for valor, honor, and chivalry. His court was a hub of cultural activities. He supported artists, scholars, and poets who enriched the heritage of Mewar.

MaharanaPratap's legacy endures in the annals of Indian history, not only for his military prowess and bravery but for his unwavering spirit even in the face of adversity. His devotion to his people, his motherland and his unwavering pursuit of honor has made him an enduring symbol of valor and patriotism.

Even today, his memory is celebrated in songs, stories, and festivals. His name continues to inspire generations to stand up for what they believe in and to defend their heritage with unwavering determination. The life and legacy of MaharanaPratap is an integral part of India's rich historical heritage, and his name is synonymous with the indomitable spirit of a true patriot and warrior.
